تختار نشوة الرويني السيدة الأكثر نفوذاً في العالم الرويني: IAIR مجلة
أهدي هذا التكريم لروح الفقيه محمد خلف المزروعي

بجانب عدد من كبار الاقتصاديين ومدراء البنوك والمنظمات الدولية

دبي، الإمارات العربية المتحدة - يوم
الثلاثاء 2 ديسمبر 2014
[ME NewsWire]
(برلين واير) - اختارت مجلة (IAIR)
الاقتصادية العالمية وبدعم من
المفوضية الأوروبية واكسو ميلا
2015، الإعلامية نشوة الرويني،
الرئيس التنفيذي لشركة بيراميديا،
جائزة السيدة الأكثر نفوذاً في العالم
وذلك في حفل منظم أقيم لأول
في دبي تضمن عدة تكريمات لأهم
الشخصيات والمؤسسات الاقتصادية
والمصرفية في مختلف دول العالم..

وعلى رأسهم الفرنسية سبيل توماس، مؤسس ورئيس الصندوق العالمي للمياه والتكنولوجيا راجفان سينكرامان الرئيس التنفيذي
لبنك النوحه والذي خال على لقب رجل الدولة لعام 2014، إضافة إلى الدكتورة مريم مطر، المؤسس ورئيس مجلس إدارة
جمعية الإمارات للأمراض الجينية.
وأشارت المجلة، إلى أن "الرويني" ترأس واحدة من أكبر شركات الإنتاج الإعلامي في الشرق الأوسط، وتمتلك كاريزما
جمعتها واحدة من أقوى الشخصيات العربية في المنطقة، واستطاعت عبر العديد من المشروعات الإعلامية والتقنية المصممة
أن تتمكن من تقديم محتوى جديد وتحديث على مختلف القنوات العربية، كما وتمكنت من تغيير السبغ الاجتماعي من
المجهول والتفكير على الرأي العام تجاه كل ما يتعلق بحقوق المرأة.
وصرحت رئيس مجموعة "IAIR" جويو جويو، إلى أن إدارة الجائزة أجرت عدة مسوح وبحثت حول المرشحين، من
الجهات والأفراد، إضافة إلى ترشيحات القراء والذين زاد عددهم عن خمسين ألف قارئ، ثم تم تقييم هذه الترشيحات بناءً
من قبل لجنة تحكيم تتألف من استشاريين ومحررين متخصصين في مجالات الصحافة والاقتصادية والقانون.
وبهذه المناسبة عبرت نشوة الرويني، الرئيس التنفيذي لشركة بيراميديا، عن سعادتها بهذه الجائزة والتي تأتي - على حد
تقديرها - تجييداً لاستخدام الإعلام ونموه التنموي في النهوض بالمرأة... وقالت: شهدت العقود الأخيرة المادية اعترافاً
بمساهمة المرأة في مختلف المجالات، مما يعزز دورها في التنمية الاقتصادية والاجتماعية.

IAIR MAGAZINE SELECTS NASHWA AL RUWAINI AS ONE OF THE MOST POWERFUL WOMEN IN THE WORLD

Dubai, United Arab Emirates, December 2, 2014

With support from the European Commission and Milan Expo 2015, The International Alternative Investment Review (IAIR) magazine has awarded Nashwa Al Ruwaini, CEO of Pyramedia, the prestigious title of most powerful woman in the world. A huge ceremony was held on November 20th in Dubai to honor some of the most influential figures in economic and banking institutions of various countries around the world. At the forefront of the list was Stella Thomas, Founder and Executive Director of Global Water Fund and Dr. Ragsvan Seetharaman, CEO of Doha Bank.

IAIR noted that Al Ruwaini heads one of the largest media production companies in the Middle East. Her charisma has made her one of the most influential people in the Arab World. Through her many major media and cultural projects, she has been able to offer new and original content throughout many Arabic channels. Her efforts have altered the social fabric and swerved public opinion in the direction of women's rights.

Guido Giommi, President of IAIR Group, explained that the award board conducted numerous surveys and research of the candidates and considered the nominations of more than 50,000 readers. The judging panel used the cumulative data to assess and select the winners.

At the forefront of the list was Stella Thomas, Founder and Executive Director of Global Water Fund and Dr. Ragavan Seetharaman, CEO of Doha Bank.

IAIR noted that Al Ruwaini heads one of the largest media production companies in the Middle East. Her charisma has made her one of the most influential people in the Arab World. Through her many major media and cultural projects, she has been able to offer new and original content throughout many Arabic channels. Her efforts have altered the social fabric and swayed public opinion in the direction of women's rights.

Guido Giommi, President of IAIR Group, explained that the award board conducted numerous surveys and research of the candidates and considered the nominations of more than 50,000 readers. The judging panel used the cumulative data to assess and select the winners.

On this momentous occasion, Nashwa Al Ruwaini, CEO of Pyramedia, expressed her delight in this award, which, in her own words, "embodies the attention of media and its developmental role in the advancement of women". She elaborated that "in the past few decades we have witnessed an increasing acknowledgement of the role Arab women aspire to attain in society, especially in light of global efforts such as the Universal Declaration of Human Rights aiming to end discrimination against women and ensure her joint cooperation with men in development processes of all kinds."

Pyramedia CEO added that all countries of the world agree that women's standing in community, political, economic, cultural, and social arenas is an upswing. Women's involvement in decision-making is an indicator of societal development; therefore, the issue of women is an essential cog in the wheel of social change and comprehensive development aiming to build a free and balanced democratic society.

At Pyramedia, this award is the result of the free Movement of Media of Women's Advancement and Education in the

Through her many major media and cultural projects, she has been able to offer new and original content throughout many Arabic channels. Her efforts have altered the social fabric and swerved public opinion in the direction of women's rights.

Guido Giommi, President of IAIR Group, explained that the award board conducted numerous surveys and research of the candidates and considered the nominations of more than 50,000 readers. The judging panel used the cumulative data to assess and select the winners.

On this momentous occasion, Nashwa Al Ruwaini, CEO of Pyramedia, expressed her delight in this award, which, in her own words, "embodies the attention of media and its developmental role in the advancement of women". She elaborated that "in the past few decades we have witnessed an increasing acknowledgement of the role Arab women aspire to attain in society, especially in light of global efforts such as the Universal Declaration of Human Rights aiming to end discrimination against women and ensure her joint cooperation with men in development processes of all kinds."

Pyramedia CEO added that all countries of the world agree that women's standing in community, political, economic, cultural, and social arenas is on an upswing. Women's involvement in decision-making is an indicator of societal development; therefore, the issue of women is an essential cog in the wheel of social change and comprehensive development aiming to build a free and balanced democratic society.

Al Ruwaini dedicated this award to the soul of the late Mohammad Khalaf Al-Mazrouei, Advisor of Culture and Heritage at the Diwan of the Crown Prince of Abu Dhabi, who passed away on the thirteenth of this month. He was exemplary in giving support to women in the UAE.

Through her many major media and cultural projects, she has been able to offer new and original content throughout many Arabic channels. Her efforts have altered the social fabric and swerved public opinion in the direction of women's rights.

Guido Giommi, President of IAIR Group, explained that the award board conducted numerous surveys and research of the candidates and considered the nominations of more than 50,000 readers. The judging panel used the cumulative data to assess and select the winners.

On this momentous occasion, Nashwa Al Ruwaini, CEO of Pyramedia, expressed her delight in this award, which, in her own words, "embodies the attention of media and its developmental role in the advancement of women". She elaborated that "in the past few decades we have witnessed an increasing acknowledgement of the role Arab women aspire to attain in society, especially in light of global efforts such as the Universal Declaration
