BIMobject® is announced as winner in the IAIR EUROPEAN AWARDS, 4th annual edition. BIMobject® is a winner in the following category: Best Company for Innovation & Leadership / Special category / Regional.

The Award ceremony was held at London Stock Exchange Group in Milan with the patronage of European Commission and EXPO 2015 organizers and with special partnership of Financial Times, Harvard Business Review, South China Morning Post and other global financial magazines.

"I am of course extremely proud and honored to receive the award from the committee of IAIR – for innovation and leadership. I would like to dedicate the prize to all the people in our organization who work hard every day to make the company BIMobject successful. Some of our core values are; winning, innovation and excellence – and with the prize from IAIR – we got a fantastic evidence of just that. We share the passion and energy to change the world in our field, and for me personally this is of course a wonderful recognition as an international entrepreneur within the IT sector," says Stefan Larsson, CEO and co founder of BIMobject®.
